For 20 years, taxpayers have propped up the wind energy industry. Despite the many tens of billions of dollars ($14 billion last year) given to them via the production tax credit, the more recent investment tax credit, and other tax and regulatory provisions, as well as loan guarantees and outright grants, the industry still comes begging.

And even after 20 years of such largesse, the industry can not show any meaningful benefit concerning any energy, pollution, or carbon problem.

Instead, rural communities have been left divided, landscapes degraded, bird and bat populations threatened, and already dwindling natural habitats destroyed.

I urge you to END the Production Tax Credit, the Investment Tax Credit, and any other federal support of industrial wind energy.
